Wildlife Rehabilitator List

The following list is maintained by Georgia DNR (not AWARE). It lists everyone holding a rehabilitation license in Georgia who agreed to be listed publicly.

If AWARE pointed you here, it is probably because we are full to capacity on the animal you need help with. But don't give up!

You can try to contact anyone on this list for help with an injured or orphaned wild animal, but please be polite and considerate when doing so. These folks are almost entirely either independent volunteers or veterinary professionals doing wildlife rehab in their spare time. They may not always be able to answer the phone or return calls, so be patient and understanding as you work to reach them. But also hang in there - it may take some calls and some driving, but you can usually find someone if you stick to it. Good luck!

Current as of May 11, 2019
